Who We Are |

Duly incorporated in 2002, CCJK Technologies Co., Ltd. (CCJK) now has 18 subsidiaries (both in China and abroad) with the mission to provide one-stop services for translation and localization. We are fluent in more than 230 languages. As an ISO-certified language service provider and the only official GE language service provider in Asia, we specialize in language solutions for global businesses, including Fortune 500 companies. We play a leading role in the translation and localization industry.

Powered by technology research and development and nearly five years of innovation, our R&D team has produced a variety of translation tools and management platforms tailored for the translation industry. Supported by Internet technology, we provide our customers with one-stop solutions in various fields, including translation, interpretation, recording, audio capture, desktop publishing (DTP), websites and apps localization, E-learning platform development and translation, speech-to-text, subtitles translation, data annotation and collection, instructions writing, etc.

What We Do

TRANSLATION

Read across languages

Contracts & Bidding translation | Documents translation
Manuals translation | Instructions translation | Drawings translation
Certificates translation | Resumes translation
Literature translation | News & Magazines translation | Transcreation

Translation usually refers to document translation and is a service for cross-border commodity circulation and cooperation. A top translation and localization service provider can help you navigate economic globalization by ensuring a better user experience of your products and contributing to your international market share.

With a professional industry corpus and standardized quality control process, we deliver translation with precision and rigor. At the same time, you can also choose our desktop publishing (DTP) service for dozens of different document formats, with customized services to meet the needs of different applications.

INTERPRETATION

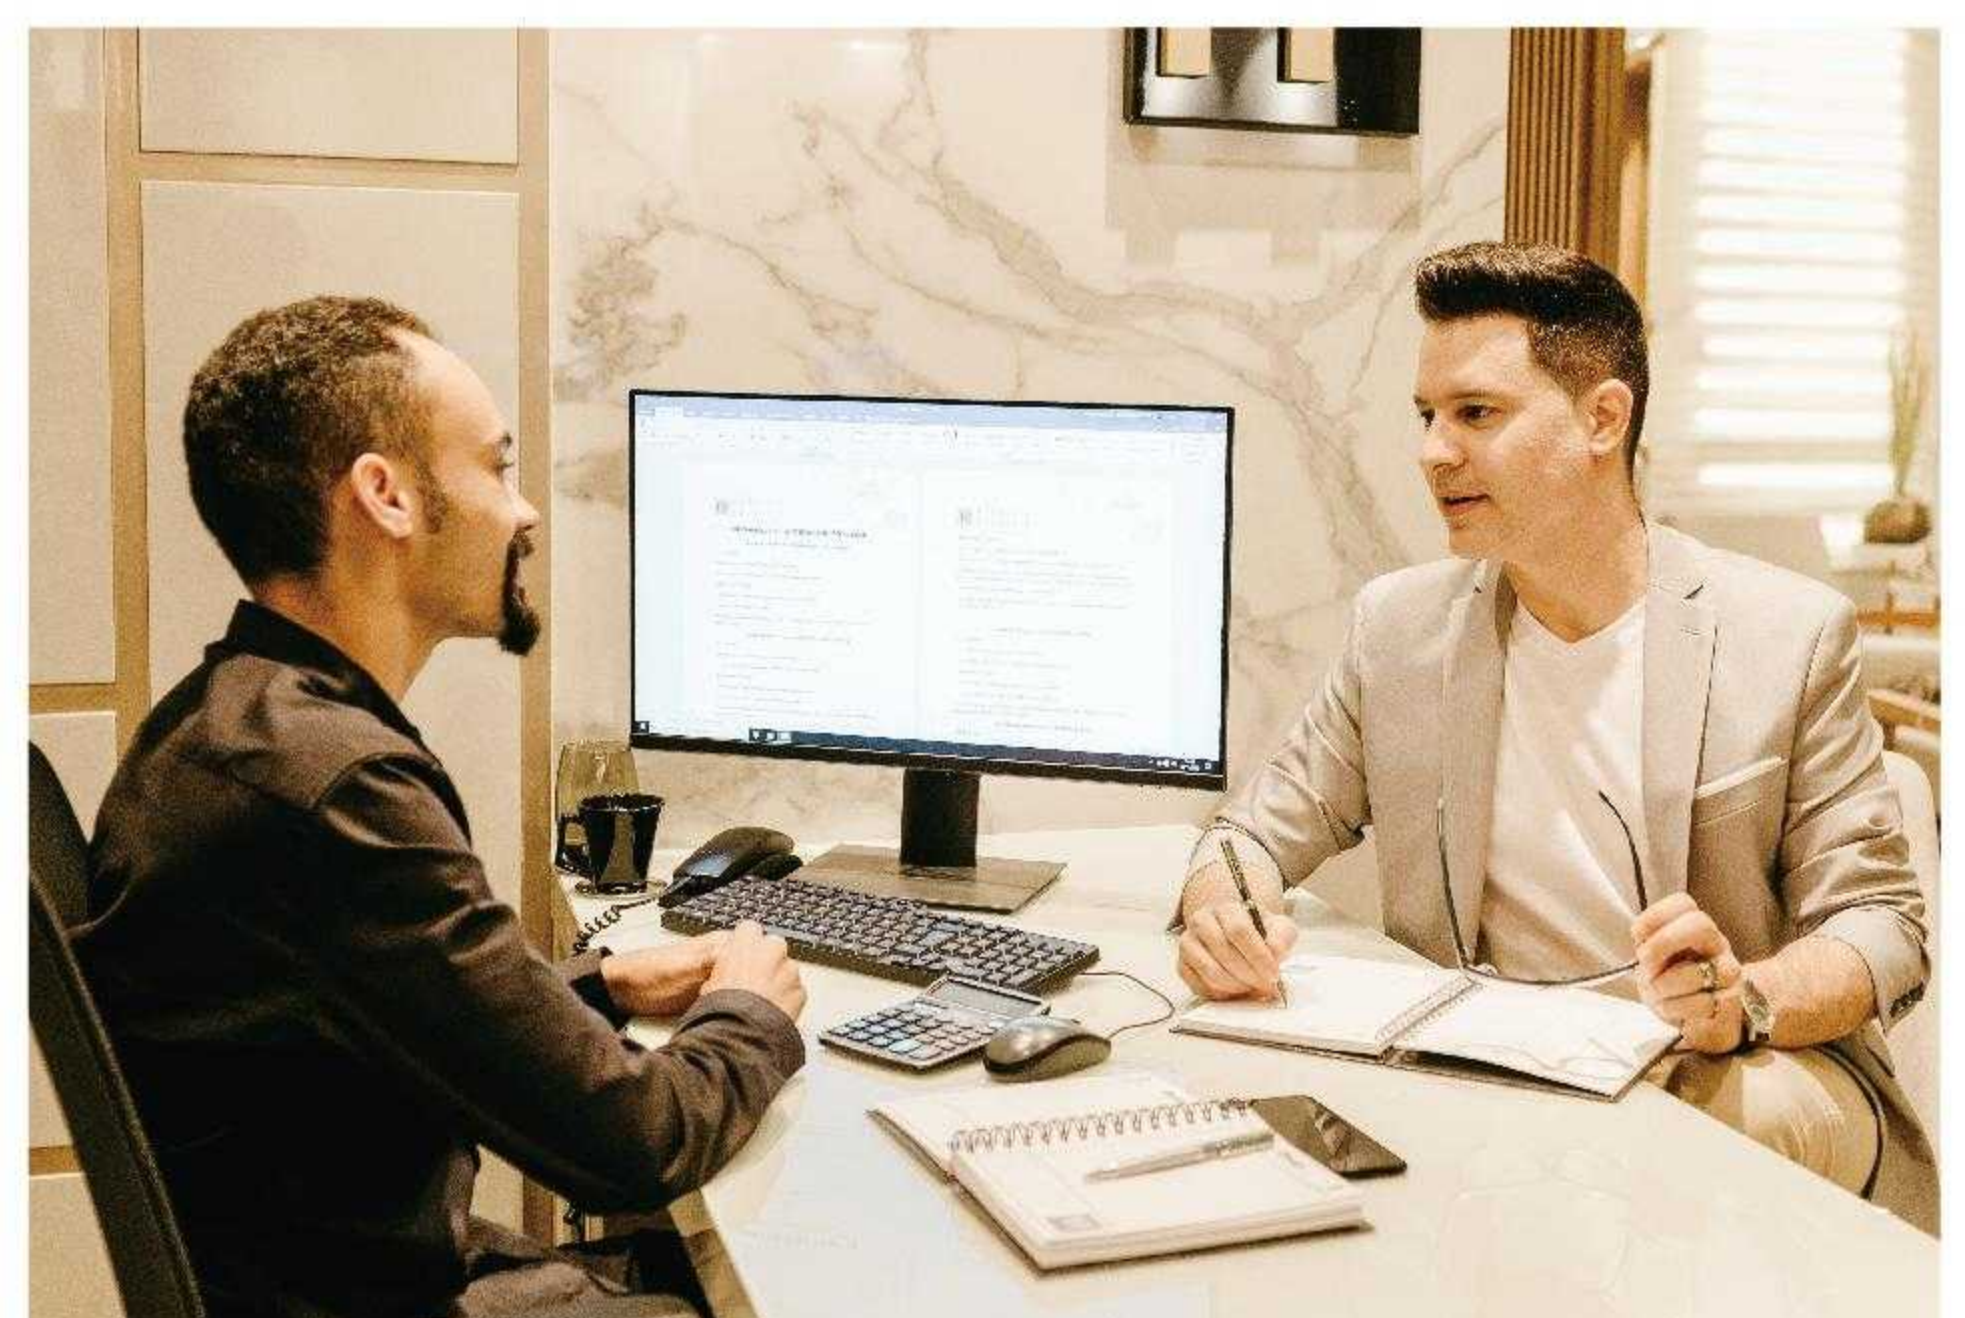

Listen across languages

Simultaneous interpretation | Consecutive interpretation | Remote interpretation
Escort interpretation | Outbound interpretation | Telephone/Video interpretation

Interpretation is all about accuracy, promptness, standard pronunciations, as well as emergency-handling, which means that interpreters must be experts of languages with rich practical experience and knowledge of international etiquette rules that are essential in global exchanges.

CCJK has long-term cooperation with local interpreters in major cities both in China and abroad. We can match your demand with the best interpreter in terms of language proficiency, practical experience, expertise, style, etc, to help bridge the communication gap.

What We Do

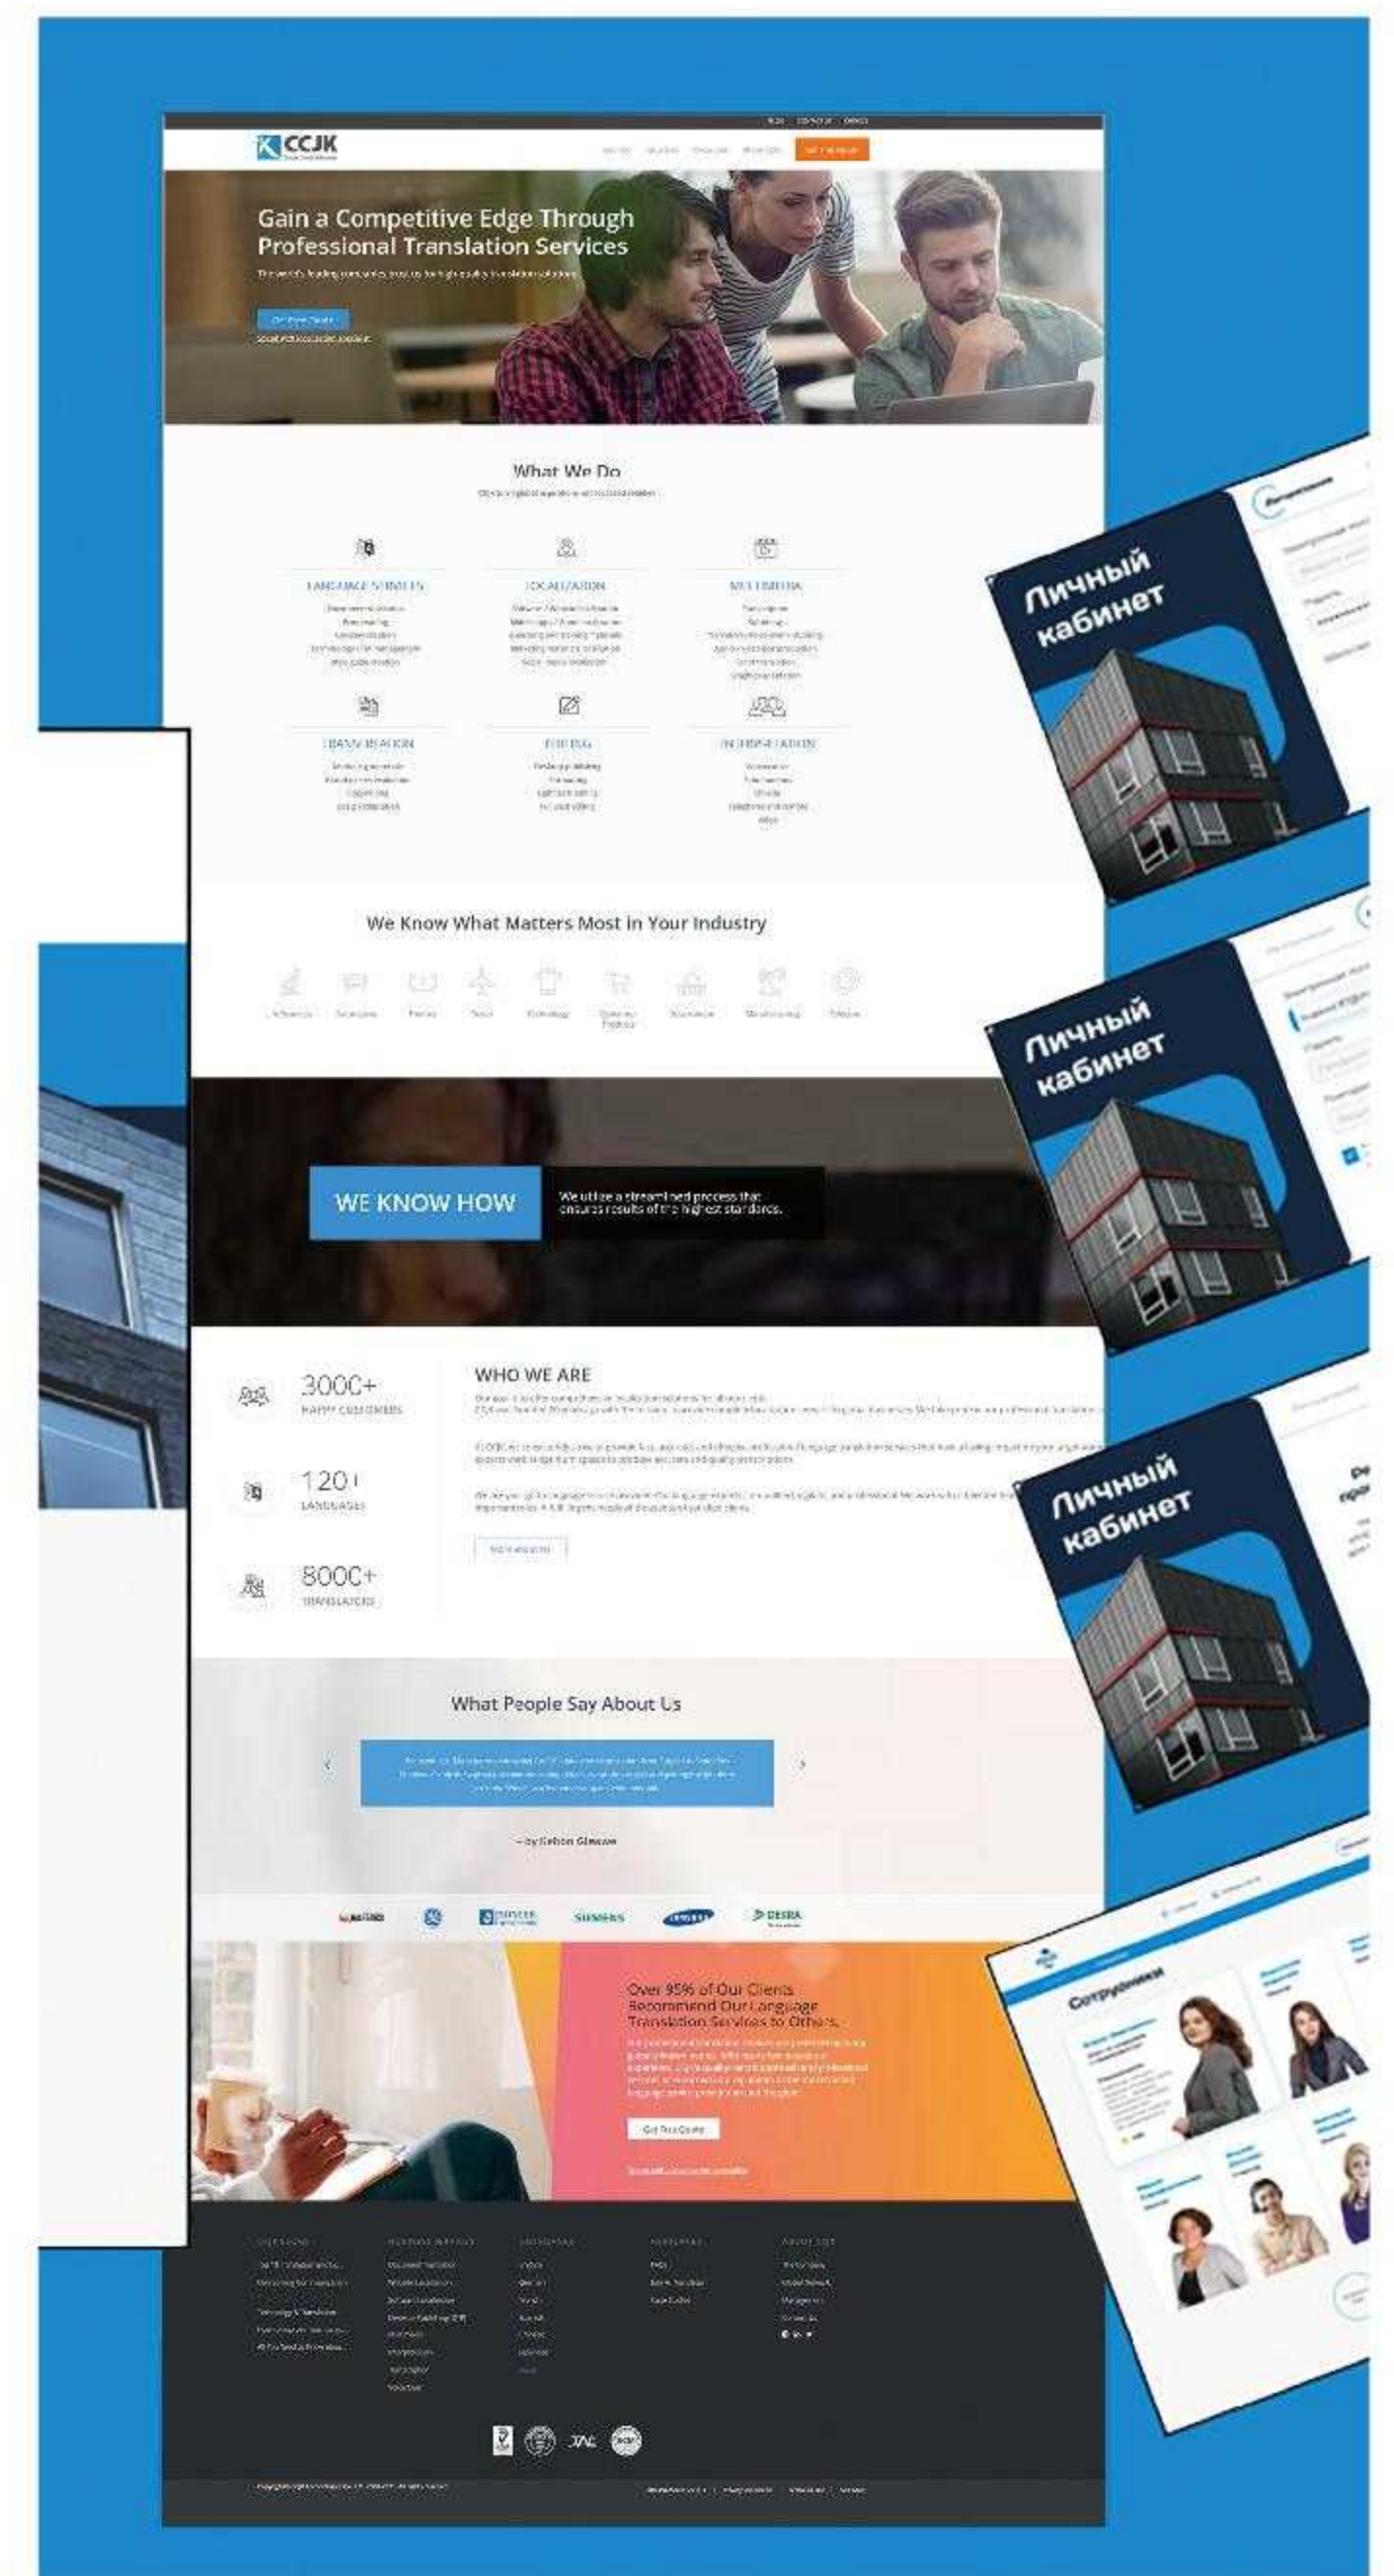

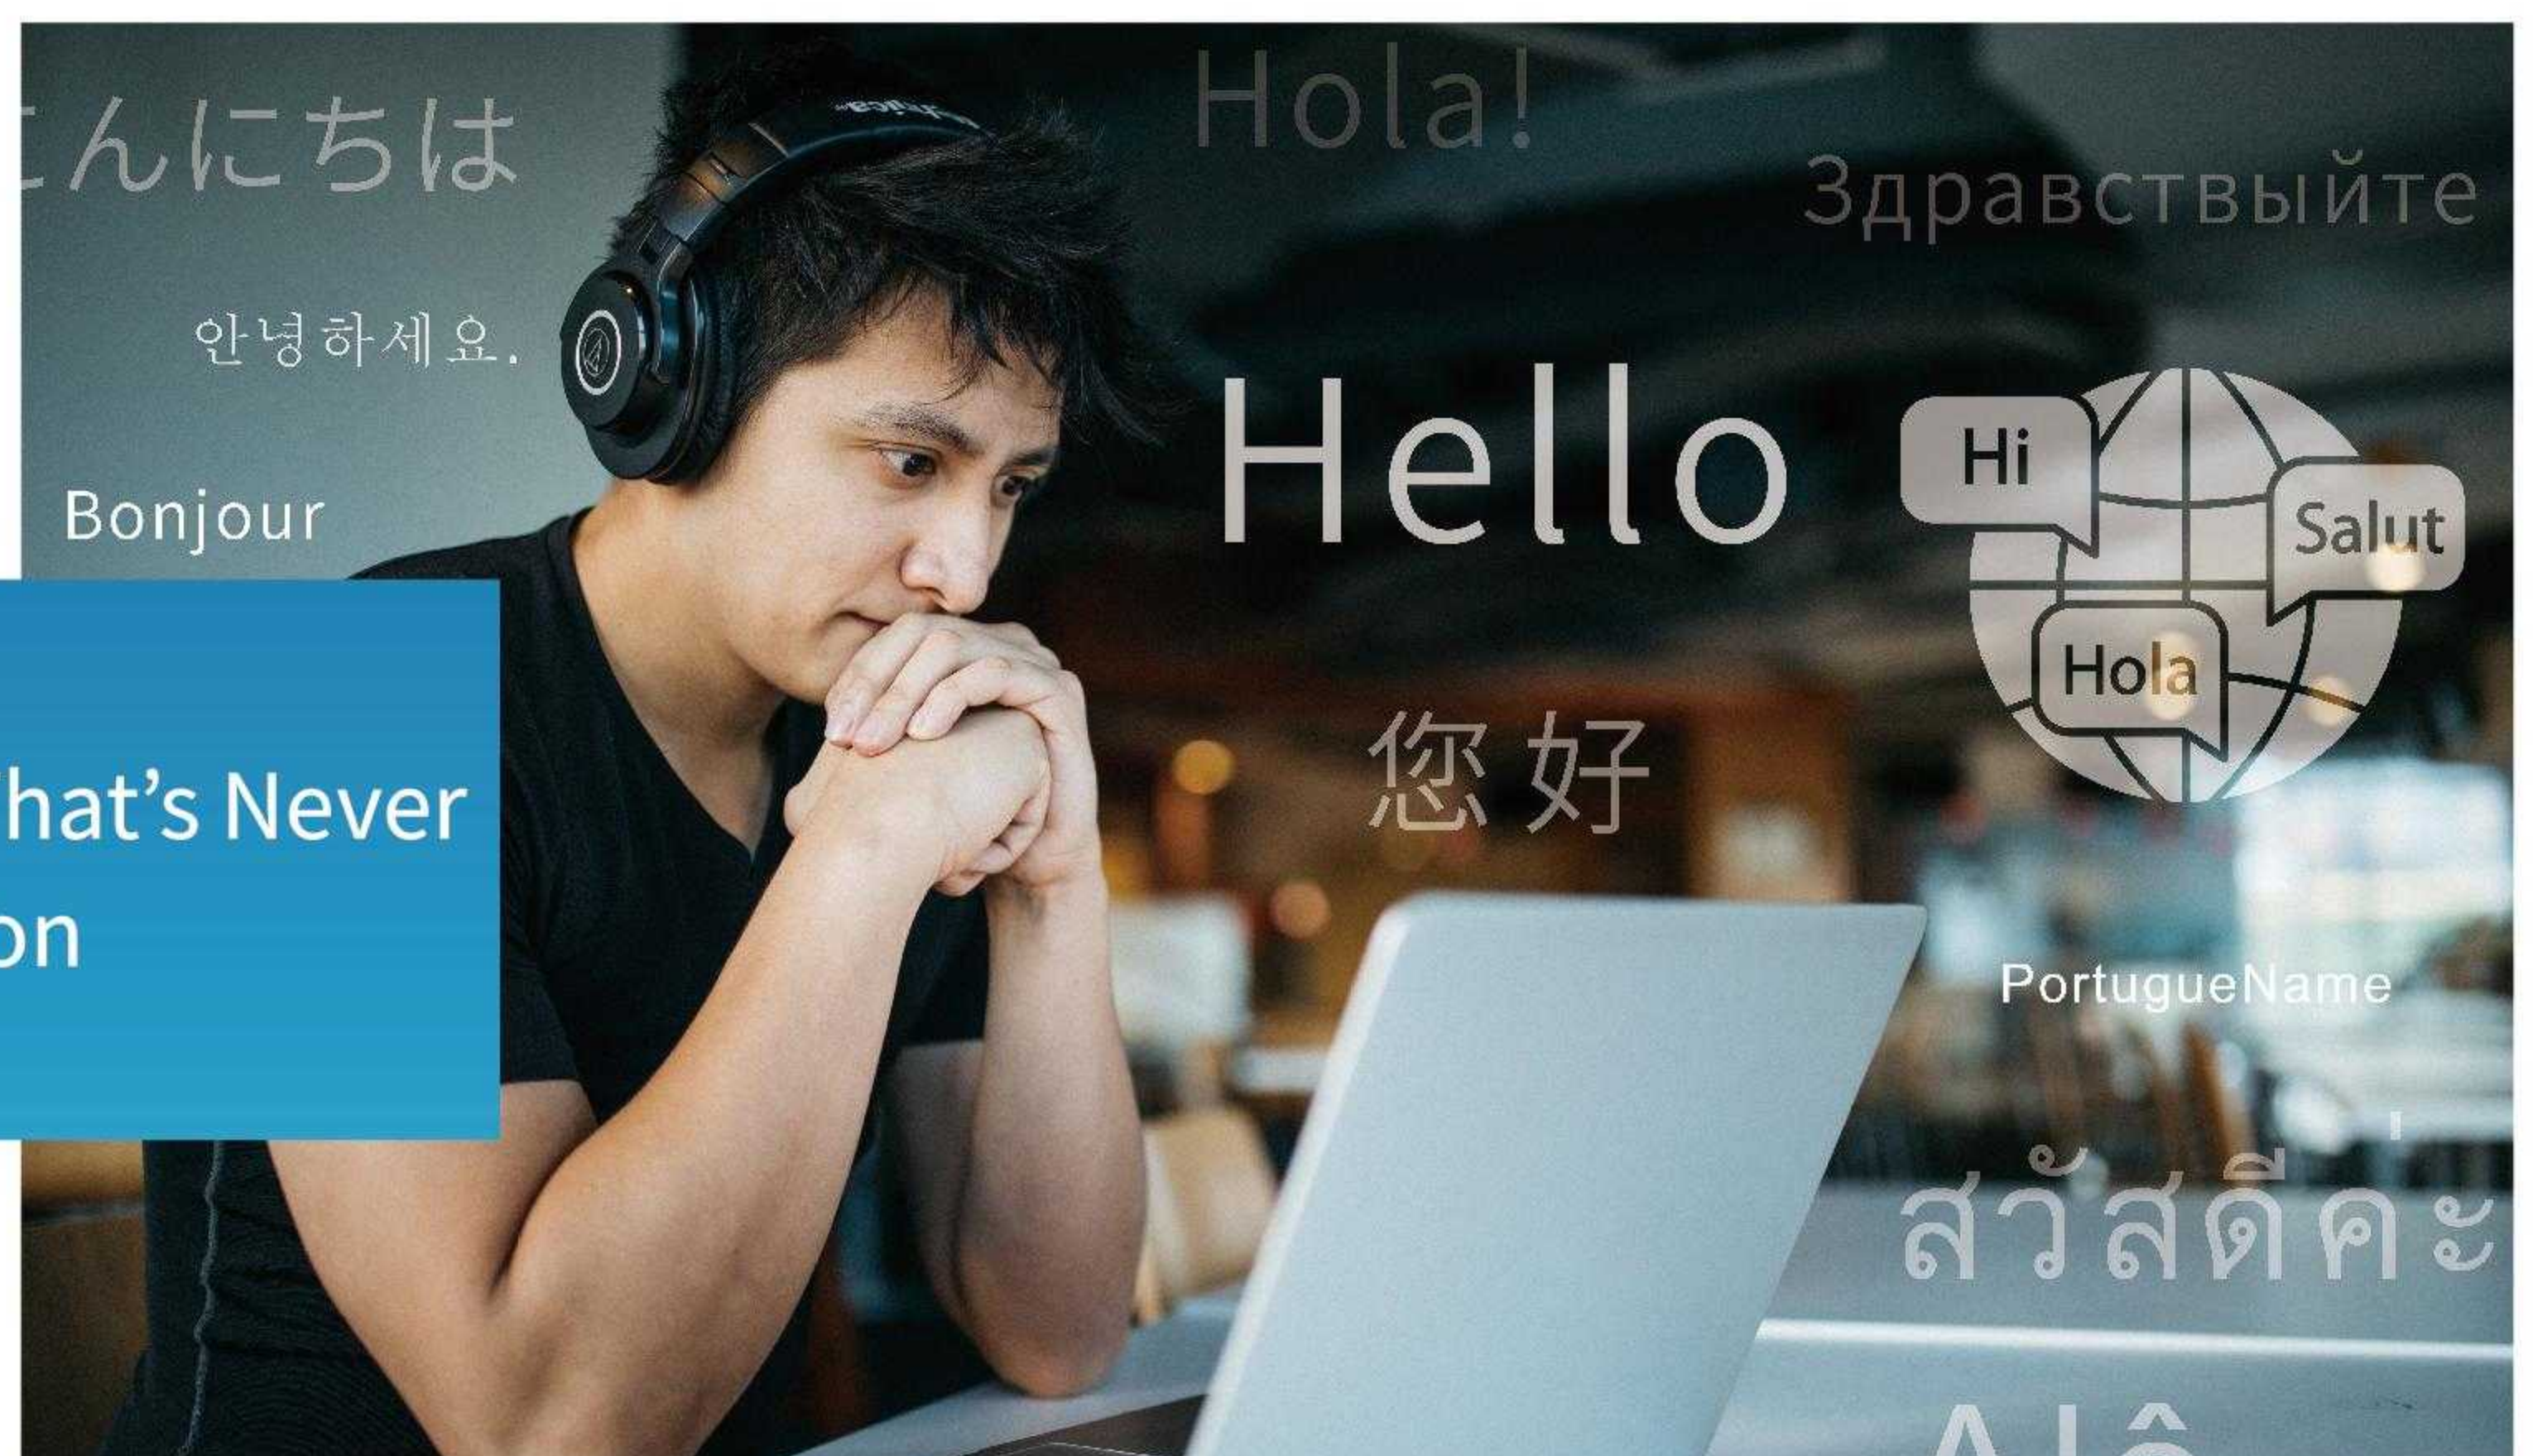

LOCALIZATION

Think local

Websites localization | Software /Apps localization
Games localization | Social Media localization | DTP

As language usage and customs vary greatly from country to country, simply translating your product will render marketing communications less effective. Our team can help you adapt your products to the target market by localizing contents such as software, apps, games, website pages, providing local users with a greater product experience.

MULTIMEDIA & NEW MEDIA LANGUAGE SERVICES

Invisible translation for an immersive experience

Subtitles translation | Subtitles production | Scripts translation | E-learning
Voice-over/Dubbing | Audio recording | Translation by speech | Dictation
Transcription | Short videos shooting & E-learning

With the advent of 5G technology, videos, audios and images have become the main sources of information. Various social media and short video platforms, are inspiring people to create. The rich expressions and infinite creativity of new media have drawn vast audiences and become the most popular way to disseminate information.

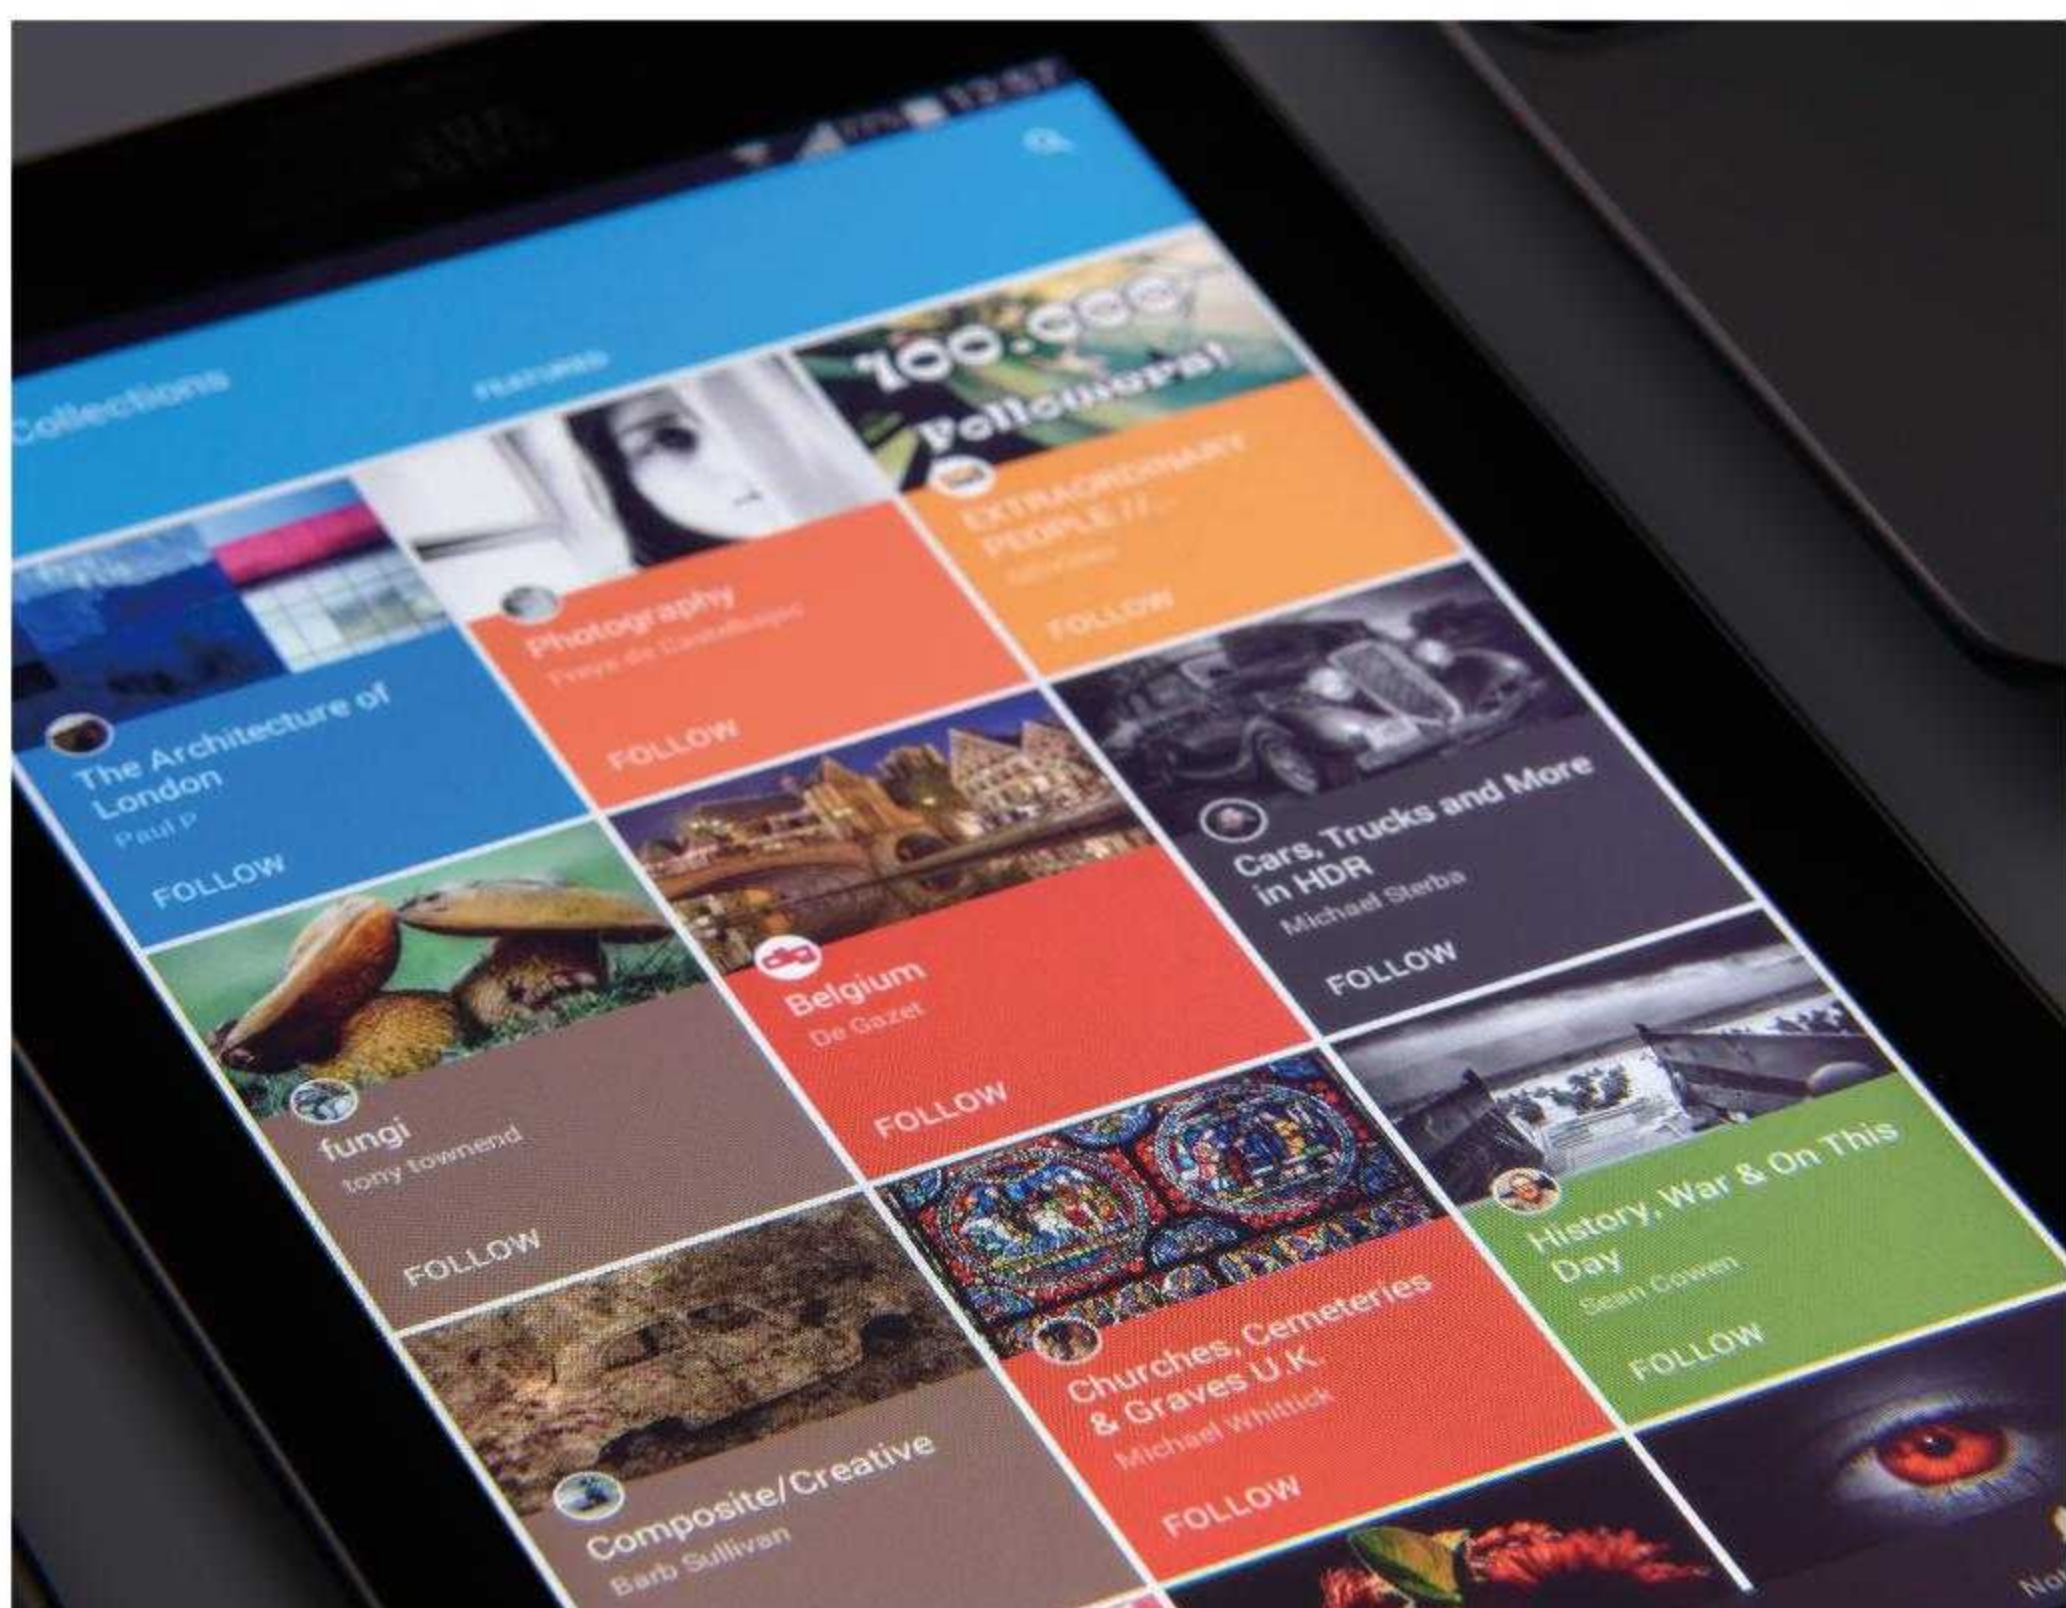

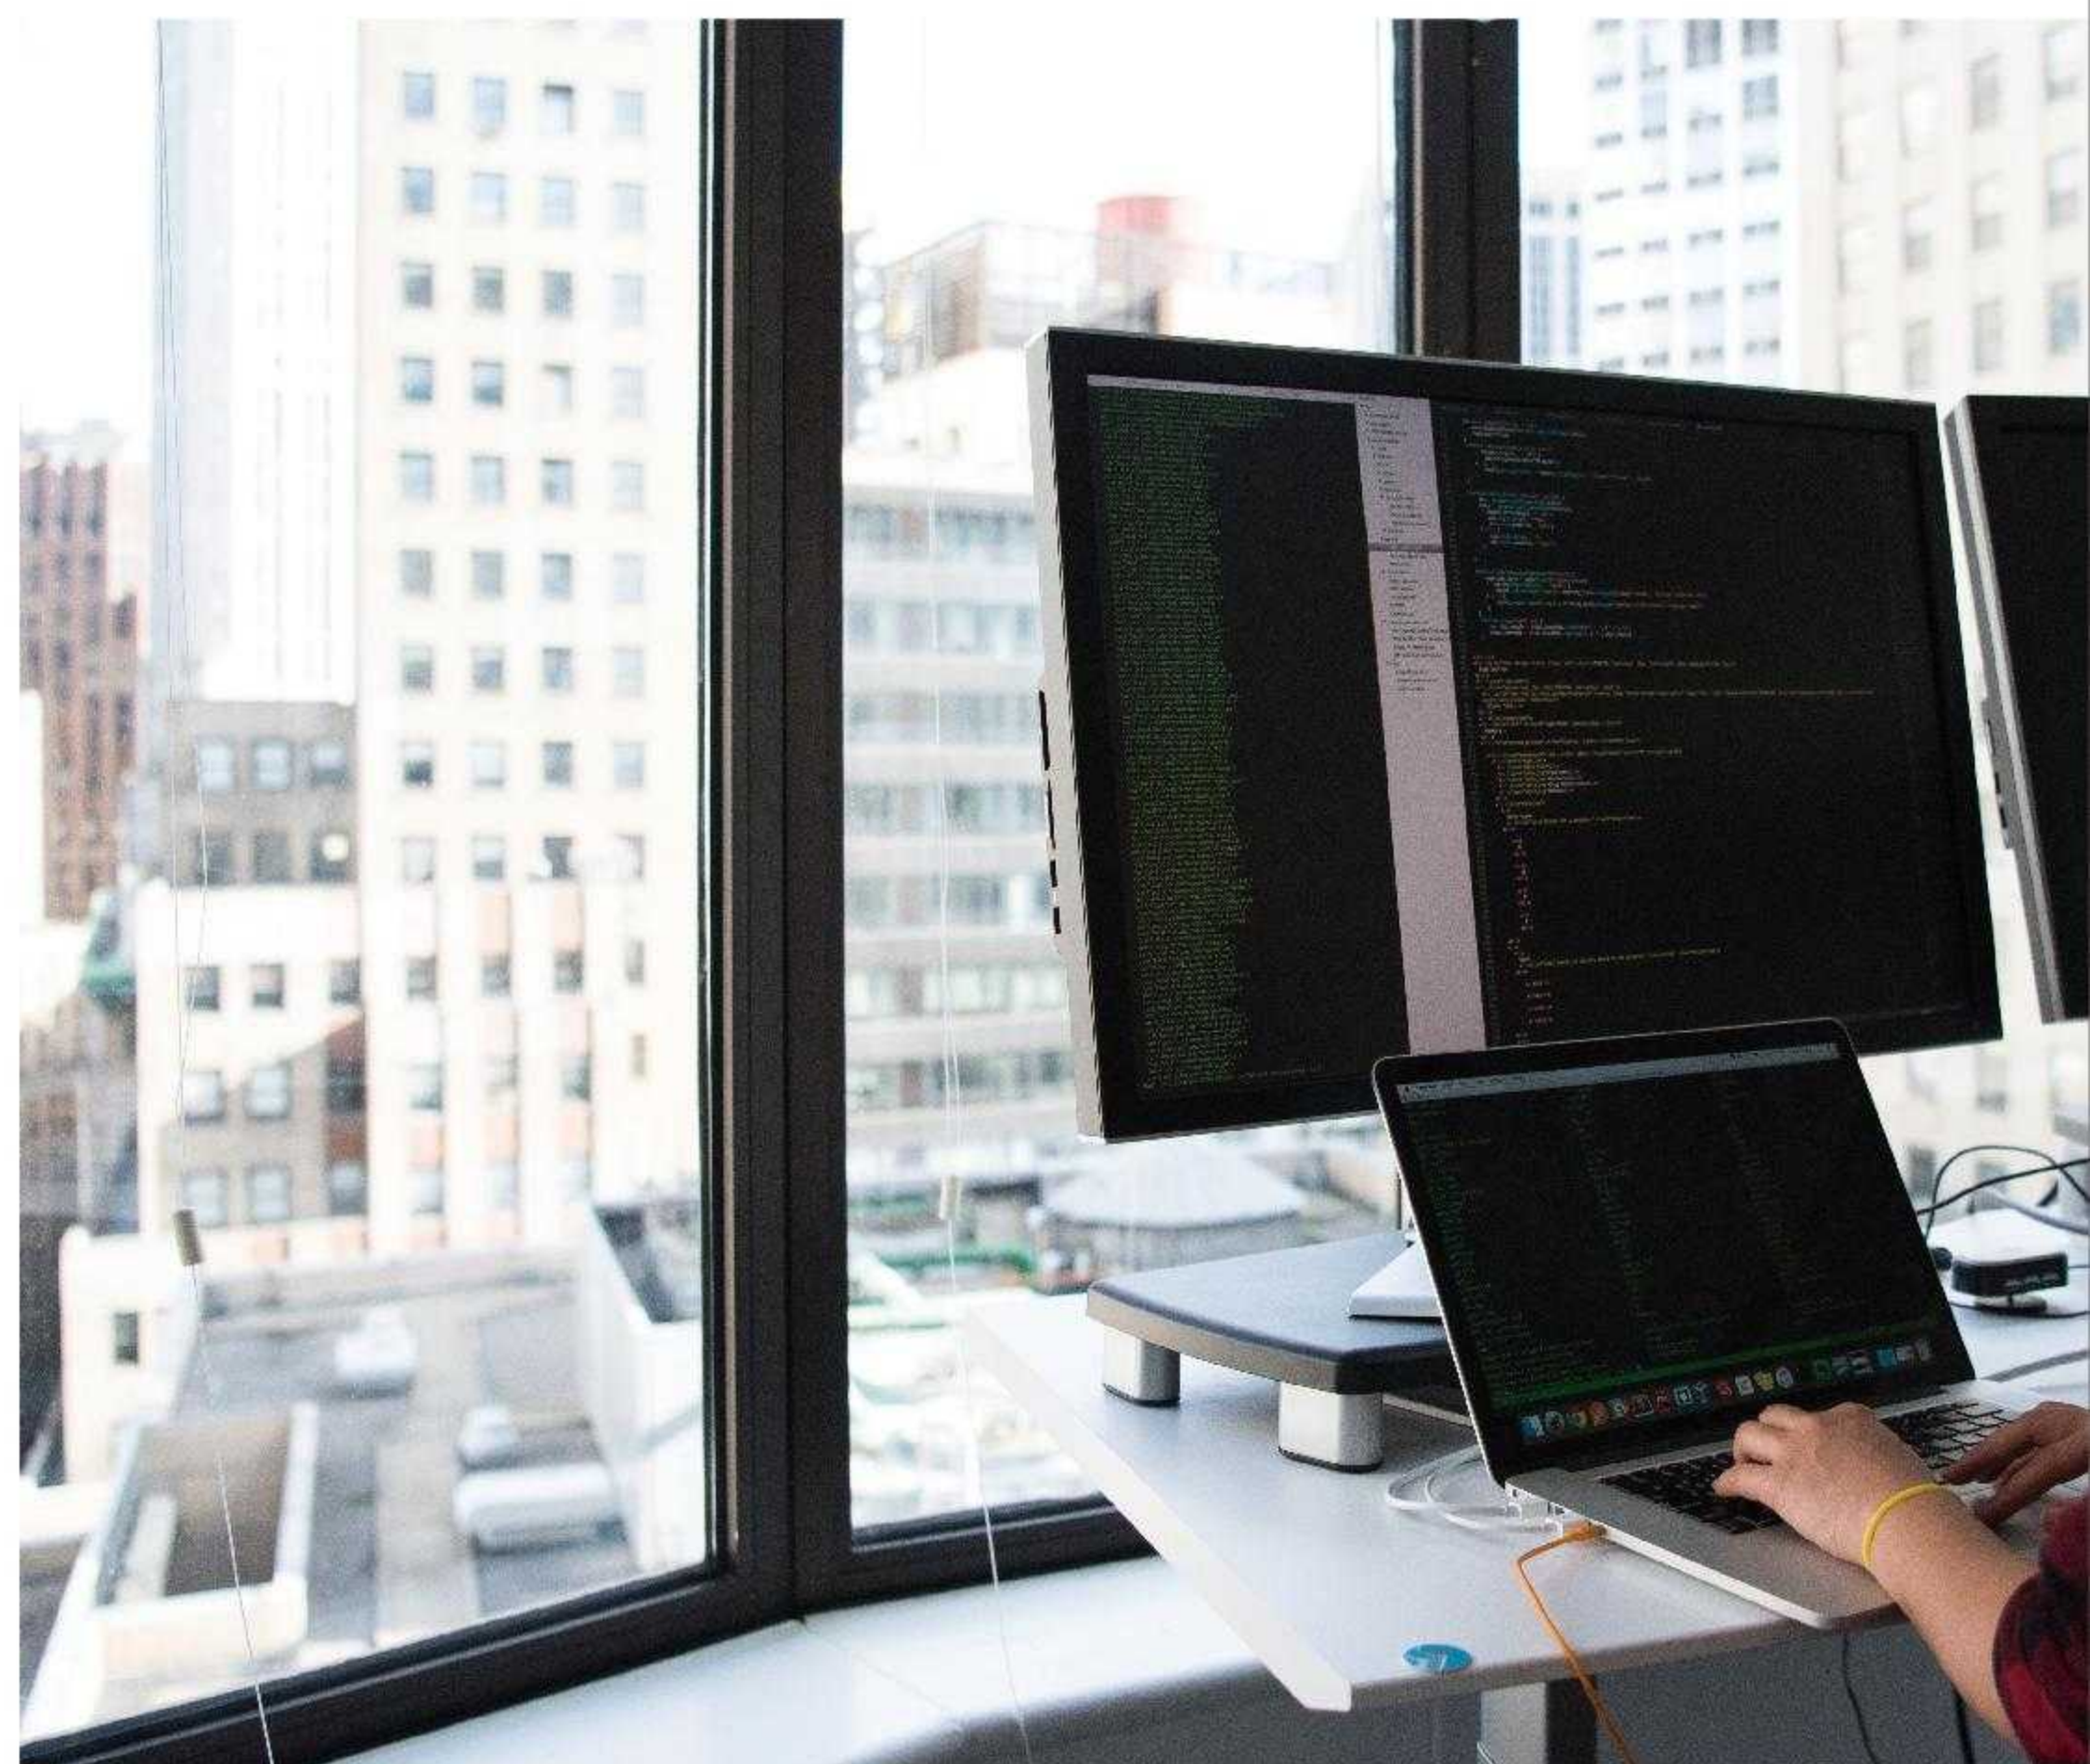

CCJK is noted for its experienced multimedia team that specializes in translation by speech in audios and videos, subtitles translation and production, dubbing, etc. to help you present engaging contents.

What We Do

MACHINE LEARNING

Smart translation

Audio capture | Audio recording | Corpus collection
Corpus alignment | Corpus cleaning
Term base translation | Data annotation

There is huge potential in the AI industry to unlock. In order to enhance the applicability of products, many enterprises have to acquire massive amounts of data to carry out machine training to constantly improve the performance and intelligence of their products.

Taking the initiative to explore new business and undertaking a large number of machine learning projects, CCJK has now accumulated rich experience and considerable resources for multilingual data collection and annotation, contributing to the improvement and optimization of AI products. We also boast a strong ability to mobilize all kinds of resources so as to deliver projects in a timely manner.
