

Law Kin-wai

Director-General
Hong Kong Economic and Trade Office
Government of the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region

Mr. Law was born in the Mainland of China. He graduated from the University of Hong Kong and holds a degree in actuarial science. He joined the Hong Kong civil service in 2001.

He began his civil service career in the then Transport Branch, assisting in formulating and implementing policies on different modes of public transport. Throughout his years of public service, he has served in posts with a range of portfolios from district administration initiatives to promoting innovation and technology. He has also served in the Development Bureau, with responsibilities over land polices and related administration issues.

Mr. Law assumed his office in the Hong Kong Economic and Trade Office in Jakarta in December 2018. Before that, he had served in the Hong Kong Economic and Trade Office in Washington DC for almost four years. He handled Hong Kong's economic and trade relations with the United States, particularly multilateral and bilateral issues that concern both economies. He had also previously served in the Hong Kong Economic and Trade Office in Singapore to foster closer ties between the ASEAN and Hong Kong.

The Director-General of the Jakarta Office is the most senior representative of the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region Government (HKSARG) to the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN). As the Director-General, Mr. Law oversees HKSARG's liaison with the ASEAN Secretariat and also matters between Hong Kong and the ASEAN as a whole. He directs efforts in enhancing bilateral relations with four ASEAN countries in particular, namely Indonesia, Malaysia, Brunei Darussalam and the Philippines. The Jakarta Office, together with the other Hong Kong Economic and Trade Offices in the region, strives to further strengthen Hong Kong's bilateral and multilateral trade, economic and cultural relations with the ASEAN region.
